Teaching School Hub Partnership

Right support, Right place, Right time

This programme aims to develop effective local SEND partnerships between specialist and mainstream schools and colleges, identifying expertise that can be shared across settings. The programme will explore the recently published DfE SEND and AP improvement plan and consider the implications for our teachers and leaders, focussing on how we can work together to build knowledge and implement changes that will impact positively on provision for pupils with SEND provision in our settings.

The programme will be led by Ruth Zimmerman from the Special Partnership Trust and Ellie Baker. Ellie is an Educational Consultant and Psychotherapist, with over 30 years' experience of work in mental health and well-being, education, therapy, consultancy, supervisory practice, social care and socially engaged community arts projects and is a national and international speaker.

We will be joined by Sarah McGinnis, HMI, who will explore the inspecting provision for pupils with SEND.

Date - 19th January 2024
