

Kernow Talks

The Cornwall Oracy Project

ORACY:

COMMUNICATING EFFECTIVELY USING SPOKEN LANGUAGE

Developing oracy and communication is pivotal to driving outstanding progress and attainment across the curriculum. The new Ofsted 'Common Inspection Framework' recognises the importance of using talk to accelerate and deepen learning in all subjects. This 8-session programme explores how to promote, develop and embed purposeful talk to enable students to successfully demonstrate their thirst for learning and students' metacognitive skills.

This is an exciting opportunity for teachers and senior leaders to develop Oracy in their school/s.

Led by Dr James Rogers (www.jimrogerstraining.co.uk) co-creator of the Plymouth Oracy Project and Judy Clark advisor to the National Literacy Trust and lecturer at Plymouth Marjon University. This course is for classroom teachers, SLEs middle leaders, and those leading a school or a MAT.
